Douglas Jerrold, a well known contributor to Punch, and editor of various publications, is writes under the impulse of the moment arti-cles which his cooler judgment condemns. Although a believer in hydropathy, his habits do at retort-not always refined. He is a husband and grandfather.

The Hon. T. B. Macaulay is short in stature, round, and with a growing tendency to aldermanic disproportions. His head has the same rotundity as his body, and seems stuck on it as firmly as a pin-head. This is nearly the sum of his personal defects; all else, except the voice, (which is monotonous and disagreeable,) is certainly in his favor. His face seems literally instinct with expression; his eyes, above all, full of deep thought and meaning. As he walks, or rather struggles, along the street, he lodged in jail, to await trial during the December seems in a state of total abstraction, unmindful of all that is going on around him, and solely occupied with his own working mind. You cannot help thinking that literature with him is not a mere profession or pursuit, but that it has almost grown a part of himself, as though historical problems or analytical criticisms were a part of his daily food.

BAILEY. A correspondent of the Tribune, writing from Nottingham, England, says:

"I have seen Bailey, the author of 'Festus.' His father is proprietor of the Nottingham Mercury, and the editorial department rests with him. He is a thick set sort of a man; of a stature below the middle size; complexion dark, and in years about eight-and-thirty. His physiognomy would be clownish in expression, if his eyes did not redeem his other features. land it has only reached its third edition, while eight or nine have been published in the Uni ted States."

DE QUINCEY.

He is one of the smallest legged, smallest bodied, and most attenuated effigies of the human form divine that one could find in a adds to this figure clothes that are neither fashionably cut nor fastidiously adjusted, he will have a tolerably rough idea of De Quincey. But then his brow, that pushes his obtrusive hat to the back part of his head, and his light grey eyes, that do not seem to look out, but to turned inward, sounding the depths of his imagination, and searching out the mysteries of the most abstrase logic, are something that Locke." &c. you would search a week to find the mates to, and then you would be disappointed. De rural village, once the residence of Sir Walter Scott, about seven miles from Edinburg, Scotland, where an affectionate daughter watches over him, and where he is the wonder of the country people for miles around. LAMARTINE.

Lamartine is-yes, young ladies, positively -a prim looking man with a long face, short, grey hair, a slender figure, and a suit of black. Put a peu behind his ear and he would look "confidential clerk." Give his face more character and he would remind you of Henry Clay. He has a fine head, phrenologi cally speaking-large and round at the top, with a spacious forehead, and a scant allot-ment of cheek. Prim is the word, though. There is nothing in his appearance which is ever so remotely suggestive of the romantic. He is not even pale, and as for a rolling shirt collar, or a Byrouic tie, he is evidently not the man to think of such things. Romance, in fact, is the article he lives by, and, like other men, he chooses to "sink the shop," at least when he sits for his portrait.

DUMAS.

On the contrary, is a burly fellow. His large red, round cheeks stand out, till they seem to stretch the very skin that covers them, and it looks as smooth as a polished apple. His black crisped hair is piled high above his forestands divided into two unequal masses, one inclining to the right, and the other to the left. His eyes are dark, and his mouth sensuous, but not to the degree of vulgarity. His person is large, and his flowing mantle red. He is a gentleman to lay bare his throat, and look romantic, not Byronically so, but piratically. Yet he looks good hu-mored, and like a man whose capacity for physical enjoyment is boundless. His negro ood is evident enough to one who knows he has it: but it would not be detected by one who knew it not. It appears in the peculiar rotundity of the man and all his parts; it crisped and heaped his hair; it made him dress up in flowing red, to have his portrait taken. But his complexion is only a shade darker than the average. The portrait reminds us for a moment of the late Thomas Hamlin, the actor.

EUGENE SUE. Is neither prim nor burly. He is a man of large frame, over which a loose black coat is carelessly buttoned. Complexion light, eyes blue, hair once black, now pepper and salt, whiskers voluminous, eyebrows black and thick, good forehead, and the lower face ample. This conveys no better idea of the man's appearance than a French passport. But the truth is, Sue's countenance and figure have none of those peculiarities which make description possible. He looks in his portrait like a comfortable, careless, elderly gentleman, taking his ease in a chair and easy coat. He does not look like an author-authors seldom do. His air is rather that of a prosperous citizen. Sue is only forty-five years old, but he has lived fast, and looks fifty-five. Lamartine is sixty-three, and would pass easily for fifty-three. Dumas is fifty, and could get credit for thirty-

Death of a Veteran.

Captain John M'Clintock, naval officer of Portsmouth, N. H., died in that city on Tuesday. Captain M'Clintock was in his day a mariner, a merchant, and originally a politician of the old Jefferson school. He sided with a few others of his party in opposition to the war of 1812, fell into the minority, and had little to do with political affairs for many years, but was given the office of naval officer of the port in the time of General Harrison, and, by the respect of after administrations, retained it until his death.

THE USE OF CHLOROFORM IN EDINBURGH. Professor Simpson states, that during the last six or seven years, few operations have been performed in Edinburgh, either in hospital or private practice, without the patient being previously anæsthetized with chloroform. During that period one death has occurred in the city, among the many thousands who have been subjected to the use of chloroform. But during the same six or seven years, among the comparatively few operated upon there without chloroform, three or four deaths have taken place, either during or immediately after surgical operation. This statement, from such a ource, is of great value.

PINS EXTRACTED FROM THE STOMACH OF A FEMALE.-Dr. E. P. Fearing of Nantucket, Mass., has taken from the stomach, abdomen and left side of a patient named Jane James sixty-two needles, and it is probable, it is said that quite a number remain to be removed. They were swallowed twelve years ago, when the patient was deranged, and imagined herself a pincushion.

Local and Dersonal.

Burglars.-We have trequently referred to a man about fifty years of age, and in person this class of depredators, who, despite the vigiis remarkably spare and diminutive. His face is sharp, angular, and his eye of a grayish hue. He is probably one of the most caustic writers of the age, and, with keen sensibility, he often dend them to a brisk prosecution of their dishonest trade, and they acted as if the property of the metropolis were a fund for legitimate plunder A mass meeting of the house-keepers and mernot conform to the internal application of A mass meeting of the house-keepers and mer-Adam's ale. His Caudle Lectures have been chants who have suffered by the midnight thieves, read by every one. In conversation he is quick | could frame a list of losses longer than an Irish pedigree, or a Congressional "private calendar" in the middle of the annual session. Truly, our people have been fleeced greatly by the skilful burglars.

Early on Tuesday morning, however, one of the thieves was detected in the act of carrying off eleven or twelve pairs of first quality mens' boots, and a leathern traveling bag, of which he had robbed a store in the neighborhood of the Centre Market. The tellow was not caught until after he had plunged into the canal, in the vain hope to elude his Auxiliary Guard pursuers. He was terni of the Criminal Court.

Clark Mills has finished the equestrian status of Jackson, (similar to that which adorns Lafayette Square.) for the city of New Orleans, where it will be inaugurated on the eighth of January next, with much promp and ceremony.

Patriotic.- In watching the movements of the politicians arrayed in opposition to the Democracy, busily engaged, night and day, in cutting ou work for their congressional friends to sew up according to the voluntarily prescribed fashions, one cannot fail to be impressed with an idea of the patriotism which governs the movements!

Land Warrants, yesterday, had a downward tendency in price, owing, doubtless, to the large He spoke of 'Festus,' and of its fame in Ame-number of them constantly being thrown into the rica, of which he seems very proud. In Eng- market, and, as winter approaches, the diminution

JOYCE'S TASTELESS SOLUTION Of Copaiba! 114 Chambers Street, N. Y. TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

CENTLEMEN.—The valuable medicinal properties of Balsam Copaiba have long been recognized by the faculty, but the great disadvantage arising from its nauseous taste has hitherte prevented its administration in many diseases for which it is particularly adapted. The usual "modus operanti" of prescribing it, either in the form of an Emulsion or Gelatinous Capsules, has not been found satisfactory, being liable to some objection, either from the difficulty experienced by some individuals in the deglutition of the Capsule or the small quantity of Copaiba gen-the Capsule or the small quantity of Copaiba generally found in the Emulsion.

Joyce's tasteless solution of Copaiba is the most unique preparation yet introduced to the medical profession, as it contains 50 per cent. o the purest Para Copaiba, without taste or smell, and at same time mixes clearly and freely with water, and is pronounced by the most eminent physicians and analytical chemists in the old and new worlds to contain all the medicinal proper-ties of Balsam Copaiba without its disagreable Running time between Washington and Cincincharacteristics.

It is an efficient preparation for all diseases of the mucous membranes, and particularly Gono-rheœa, Leucorrhœa, Gleet, painful hemorrhoidal affections, and in chronic irritation of the bladder. Sold in Washington wholesale, by J. N. CALLAN,

Oet 2tJan 1 THE SPECTATOR."

A Weekly Journal Published at Washington City.

THE undersigned propose to commence about the first of June next, in the City of Washington, the publication of a weekly newspaper, to be called the Spectator, designed for general circulation among the people of the United States. Its columns will contain a full digest of the news of the day, foreign and domestic; a weekly review of finance and the markets: a weekly review of finance and the markets; a synopsis of the proceedings of Congress during its session; tables of election returns; the impor-tant political action of State Legislatures, and of Melodeons at a large discount from factory prices, for cash. His assortment comprises Pianos from three of the largest and most celebrated Boston manufactories; also those of several of the best New York makers, including the beautiful and much admired Herace Waters Pianos from his gether with a weekly list of new patents, will be found in its columns. A large portion of its space will be devoted to light literature, original, and selected. Its location at the political centre of the Union, will afford opportunites always to procure the latest and most reliable informs on public affairs.

It is the intention of the undersigned to make the Spectaton an acceptable visiter to every house in the Union, and it will therefore not assome on any occasion the position of a partizan paper, nor will it owe any allegiance to men; but entertaining fixed and decided views on questions of political economy, and upon our system of government, it will disseminate and promulgate them as occasion may require—always keeping carefully n view the interests of the country, growing out of foreign as well as domestic affairs. The SPECTATOR will be printed in quarto form, on good paper and new type; each number con taining eight pages of matter, making one volume annually of 416 pages. Each volume will be ac companied by a full and comple index to its contents, thus making it a most valuable paper for preservation and reference. It will be published preservation and receiving at $2 per annum, payable every Saturday morning at $2 per annum, payable always in advance. No paper will be continued beyond the time for which it is paid.

All subscriptions and communications on busi ness should be addressed to the undersigned at Washington, D. C.
